IFA recognises its members with President's awards and Fellowships

At its annual conference at Auckland the Institute of Financial Advisers (IFA) made two Fellowships recognising outstanding contributions at the national level and five Presidents Awards recognising volunteer service to the Institute at a local or committee level.

Fellowships awarded

IFA Fellowship awards are made from time to time to selected members who the Board and Council recognise as having contributed significantly to the profession and given special service to the Institute for more than ten years.

A Fellowship was awarded to Lyall Daines for his contribution to Tasman Branch and IFA for over 25 years. Tate said "Daines has been a truly dedicated and loyal member of IFA".

A Fellowship was awarded to John Doolan for his 22 years outstanding service to Central Region Branch and IFA. Tate said "Doolan is a very worthy recipient of this award". He was also previously awarded a President's Award in 2009.

Presidents Awards

Five President's awards were also made during the evening. These were in honour of the Institute's quiet achievers who have dedicated their time, energy and intellect for the common good of IFA and the financial advice profession.

IFA President Nigel Tate said, "The President's awards are awarded to members who have earned the respect and gratitude of their peers for their service to the Institute."

The five recipients of the Presidents awards were -

Neil Miller for his contribution to the Central Region branch. He is in his second decade on the local branch committee.

Luke McKenzie from Hamilton for his contribution to the Waikato branch executive over the past six years.

Coralie Yorke from Palmerston North for her reliable and dedicated contribution to the Central Region branch and executive.

Mike Staal from Auckland for his contributions to FPI, IAFP and IFA. He was involved in the development of the first code of Professional Practice and Conduct for the association and more recently serving on the Code Committee in 2009.

Fred Dodds from Wellington for his long service and selfless contribution to the profession which spans over three decades, and his outstanding service, enthusiasm and concern for the wellbeing and development of financial advisers.
